PRESS RELEASE

On May 22, 2006 Milwaukie Police investigated a bomb threat that was found at Rowe Middle School.

At 4:10 p.m., after students had left for the day, a custodian found a message written on a bathroom wall that stated that a bomb was in the school and that everyone would be killed the following day.

On May 23rd, school officials conducted a search of the school for suspicious packages prior to student's arrival at the school and found none. The threat was not considered credible and classes were held as usual with no disruption in the schedule.

The investigation located a juvenile who eventually admitted to leaving the message. The juvenile was a 13-year-old student at Rowe Middle School. The juvenile is not currently in custody and charges are pending through the Clackamas County Juvenile Department.
